

April Writing Prompts

- Write a true or make-believe story that takes place on a rainy day.
- What are your feelings about splashing in a puddle? Do you love to do it, or do you avoid it? Give reasons to support your opinion.
- In honor of School Library Month, write directions to tell how to get from your classroom to your school library or media center. Include words like first, next, then, and finally.
- Explain how you know that spring has arrived where you live.
- April is Mathematics Awareness Month. What is your opinion of math? Explain.
- Tell the true story of your proudest moment. Include details to help the reader feel like a part of your story.
- What is Earth Day? Give facts and share examples of things a kid can do on this day.
- If you could be an insect, which kind would you want to be? Why?
- Write a story that includes an egg, your teacher, and a surprise.
- Do you think it is important for students your age to practice good handwriting? Why or why not?
